

Web Resources

NEW TEACHER INDUCTION PROGRAM

<h2>Communication with Parents/Guardians</h2>	Professional development and training, specific to the needs of new teachers, should include the following core content:
	Understanding the perspectives of parents	Developing open and collaborative communication skills	Developing attitudes, skills and communication strategies to foster a collaborative relationship with parents and students	Strategies to engage parents in supporting their child's learning	Strategies to communicate with parents on an ongoing basis about:		Positive conflict resolution strategies and strategies aimed specifically at dealing with challenging situations	Developing teaching strategies that foster an open and collaborative relationship with parents
					Classroom events, assignments and expectations (such as planners, newsletters, class web site, etc.)	Students' progress (such as report card comments, parent teacher conferences, etc.)
Helping Your Child Learn to Read: A Guide for Parents
Helping Your Child with Reading and Writing – A Guide for Parents
Helping Your Child Learn Math: A Guide for Parents
Helping Your Child Do Mathematics – A Guide for Parents
Leading Math Success - Family and Community Connections Resources Family and Community Supports Materials Overview Family and Community Supports Workshop Powerpoint Family and Community Supports Workshop Notes

<h1 style="text-align: center;">Communication with Parents/Guardians</h1>	Professional development and training, specific to the needs of new teachers, should include the following core content:
	Understanding the perspectives of parents	Developing open and collaborative communication skills	Developing attitudes, skills and communication strategies to foster a collaborative relationship with parents and students	Strategies to engage parents in supporting their child's learning	Strategies to communicate with parents on an ongoing basis about:		Positive conflict resolution strategies and strategies aimed specifically at dealing with challenging situations	Developing teaching strategies that foster an open and collaborative relationship with parents
					Classroom events, assignments and expectations (such as planners, newsletters, class web site, etc.)	Students' progress (such as report card comments, parent teacher conferences, etc.)
Leading Math Success - Family and Community Connections Resources Yes, I Can Help My Child Powerpoint Why Has Mathematics Instruction Changed? Powerpoint Manipulatives and Technology Powerpoint
Pathways to Success -- Video for Parents on Building a Pathway with their Child
Settlement.org: Welcome to Ontario – Information on the Ontario Public Education System

Click here to access French language resources to support professional development in this core content area.